THURSDAY'S CHILD HAS FAR TO GO

If you are familiar with the Nursery rhyme that begins, 'Monday's child is fair of face' then you may comprehend the rationale for today's headline. If by any chance Wednesday's play was full of woe, do not give up hope as there are more than enough deals remaining to give everyone a chance of secure one of the coveted places in the finals.

Unofficially, 26 Pairs will contest the U26, U21 and U16 finals, while 14 will line up in the Women's U26.

OPATIJA DIARY

Mark Horton

The enthusiasm of the audience at Tuesday's opening ceremony was clear to see (and hear!) and augurs well. There was not enough time to include all the highlights, but Francesca is planning a photographic montage that will appear in this issue.

At major championships, there are normally many offices (usually separated by seemingly endless corridors) but this time everyone is located in the same room, which has many benefits. Security is not an issue, as the office is guarded by Marina's Nutella who has affectionately been christened The Hound of the Baskervilles. (There is no truth in the rumour that Francesca plans to spray her with luminous paint so she will glow in the dark, a device used in at least one film of the famous Sherlock Holmes story.)

The latest addition to the office arrived yesterday. It is a cross between the Cabinet of Dr. Caligari and the monolith that appears in 2001 A Space Odyssey. Bets are currently being placed as to its contents - my guess is a supply of capsules for our Nespresso coffee machine.

With BBO out of action it was back to old-fashioned reporting for the first session of the qualifying contest - and only 26 pairs would reach the final.

I took the middle ground by electing to follow the U21 Championship:

For the record, a top is 52.

East led the ♥7 and declarer won with dummy's ace and played on diamonds, West taking the ace on the second round and returning the ♣5 as East pitched the ♠5. Declarer won with dummy's ace and played a spade to the king, which meant there were only eleven tricks, +460 worth only 20/32.

Zuzana OTRADOVCOVA

12 tricks would have resulted in 41.71/6.29.

2♣ Stayman

Generally speaking, the rule is not to press for a close game at pairs, and this deal was not about to prove to be an exception.

West cashed the ♦K and switched to the ♠2. Declarer won with dummy's queen and played the ♦Q, West winning and exiting with the ♣3. Declarer took East's jack with the ace and tried the ♦J, but West ruffed with the ♠K and exited with the ♠8. Declarer won in hand and tried the ♥5, but West took the king for one down, -50 and 5/47. +140 would have been 36/16.

East led the ♥10 and declarer won with the jack, ruffed the ♥Q and played the ♠J, covered by the king and ace. When declarer played the ♠9 East won and played a second heart, so declarer lost only one diamond, +200 and 39/13.

If East had ducked the second spade declarer would have played clubs, when East would be able to ruff the third round and should then have enough information to know to switch to diamonds holding declarer to ten tricks, worth 29/23.

West led the ♠10 and declarer went up with dummy's king and ran the ♥10. When it held he took a club finesse, cashed the ♥A, crossed to dummy with a heart, repeated the club finesse and claimed all the tricks, +710 and 33/19.

2♣ Majors

North led the ♣2 and South won with the ace and switched to the ♠2. Declarer won with the queen, and played a second spade to dummy's ace. Her next move was to take the diamond finesse, but North won and played a third spade. On this layout that meant the contract was sure to fail.

Federico PORTA

Suppose declarer plays a heart at trick three and the defenders win and return a second trump. Declarer wins in dummy and continues with a heart, the defenders winning and playing a third trump. Declarer takes that in dummy and East wins the third heart and exits with a diamond. If declarer guesses to refuse the finesse and takes the ace, ruffs a diamond and plays a heart South wins but has to play a club, resurrecting dummy.

Very pretty, but not an easy line to follow.

However, I think there is a stronger possibility - win the spade switch in dummy and play a low heart. If South plays the jack (as who would not) and plays a second spade declarer wins in and can now play a second heart, when the defenders cannot prevent nine tricks from being made.

Going one down scored 34/18. +110 would have changed that to 14/38. The only pair to record +140 collected 6/46 - but North led the ♥10 which simplified matters.

With a balanced hand East didn't bother to mention his spades.

South led the ♥10 - reflecting the modern theory that passive leads are best against notrumps - and declarer won with the ace and played the ♠3 for the ten, king and ace. When North returned the ♠6 declarer went up with the queen and when South pitched the ♦5 he tried the ♣10, ducking when South played the king. When South exited with the ♣3 declarer put up dummy's ace and played a spade, North taking the jack and switching to the ♦8. South won with the queen and played the ♣9 and declarer won in dummy, played a heart to the jack and a diamond, so South's ace and the ♣8 meant two down, -200 giving NS 39/13. Taking eight tricks would have been worth 23/29.

North's spade return at trick three might have proved costly. If declarer puts in the nine he can then play clubs in the same way and with hearts 3-3 he will eventually be able to endplay South with a club.

East led the ♠K and declarer ducked twice, won the third round with dummy's ace and played the ♣J. When that held he played a second club to the king and cashed his diamonds. The last of these would have been somewhat embarrassing for West, but he had already pitched a heart, so declarer took eleven tricks and +460 was 45/7 - as opposed to the 27/25 that +430 would have delivered.

MISPLAY THIS HAND WITH ME IN OPATIJA

Mark Horton

At the start of a long match I pick up a modest hand:

Dealer West. EW Vul.

♠ A 5 4
 ♥ 6 5 2
 ♣ 10 7 6 5 4

When West opens 1♣ my partner overcalls 2NT, promising the red suits. East bids a non-forcing 3♠ and when West has nothing to add my partner doubles, marking him with a good hand. I can do no more than bid 4♥, which leaves us with this auction:

| West     | North | East | South |
|----------|-------|------|-------|
| 1♣       | 2NT*  | 3♠   | Pass  |
| Pass     | Dble  | Pass | 4♥    |
| All Pass |       |      |       |

West leads the ♠10 and I get a powerful dummy:

♠ Q 8
 ♥ A K J 7 3
 ♦ A Q 9 5 4

♠ A 5 4
 ♥ 6 5 2
 ♣ 10 7 6 5 4

Given the vulnerability I suspect East will have the ♠K but nevertheless I put up dummy's queen and take the king with the ace. I am going to need to develop the diamonds, so I play a diamond to the queen and when it holds I cash the ace on which West drops the king. Marking time, I cash the ♥A, East following with the four and West the eight.

If West started with three hearts it is safe to cash a second heart before ruffing a diamond.

However, that will be fatal if West began with ♥Q1098 as he will overruff the third round of diamonds and exit with a club, leaving me a trick short. In that scenario it is best to ruff a diamond now - West can overruff, but cannot profitably play a trump, which will give me time to ruff a fourth diamond.

Reflecting that West, who is marked with the missing high cards is likely to have a distributional hand, I do not take a second round of trumps before ruffing a diamond. West overruffs and returns the ♣2. When East ruffs that and plays the missing diamond West's ♥Q becomes the setting trick.

This was the layout:

Dealer West. EW Vul.

♠ Q 8
 ♥ A K J 7 3
 ♦ A Q 9 5 4
 ♣ A

|                 |              |                 |

| ♦ K 8           |              | ♦ J 10 6 3      |
| ♣ K Q J 9 8 3 2 |              | ♣ —             |
|                 |              |                 |
|                 | ♠ A 5 4      |                 |
|                 | ♥ 6 5 2      |                 |
|                 | ♦ 7 2        |                 |
|                 | ♣ 10 7 6 5 4 |                 |

Post mortem

Declarer should have asked himself this question: if West held ♥Q1098 why did he not start with a top club, hoping to play a forcing game? Strangely, if West is 1-4-2-6 and leads a club declarer can get home by winning in dummy, cashing a top heart and playing a low diamond from dummy. If West wins with the eight and plays a spade, declarer wins and takes a trump finesse before cashing the ♦A and ruffing a diamond. On the actual layout, leading a club allows East to ruff and return a red suit - for example after a diamond declarer wins in dummy, cashes a top heart and then plays two rounds of diamonds. West overruffs and exits with a spade and declarer must lose two more tricks.
